

Agreement for Requesting Detailed Information

By signing this agreement, you'll be provided with a sales prospectus on TrollingMotors.net as well as a detailed diligence packet containing financial statements, bank records and other diligence information. Execution of this agreement also entitles you to access live analytics data for the company and other data and website sources on a per request basis.

You, the undersigned, agree to:

(1) Keep confidential any information contained in the prospectus that has not been shared publicly via the eCommerceFuel blog. Specifically, you promise not to disclose:

- (1) The top selling products or employee salaries
- (2) Any data discovered while accessing company analytics or websites
- (3) Any information found in the due diligence packet

You may disclose this information to business partners or individuals who you're seeking advice from regarding the purchase of TrollingMotors.net as long as they agree to keep it confidential.

(2) Inform an eCommerceFuel representative (via the contact methods below) if you decide not to make a bid for TrollingMotors.net and destroy any printed and digital copies of the sales prospectus, the due diligence packet and any information that may have been saved while accessing TrollingMotors.net analytics or other website data sources.
